

Dr. Seepana Prakasm
Bio

Dr. Seepana Prakasm is visiting the University of Nairobi as an Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR) Chair of Economics from September 2016 to end of April 2017. Dr. Prakasm is an Assistant Professor of Economics at the Post Graduate Government College for Girls, Chandigarh, India. He holds a B.Ed. from Annamalai University, Chidambaram, a B.Lib. and an LLB from Andhra university, Visakhapatnam, India, a post graduate diploma in human resource management (PGDHRM) from Andhra Pradesh Productivity Council, Hyderabad, India. An M.Ed., from Pondicherry Central University, India. An M.Phil., M.A., and a Ph.D. in Economics (Demography/Labor Economics) from Andhra University, Visakhapatnam, India. In 2010, he successfully took a three months Faculty Development Programme (FDPM) from IIM Indore. He was an ICSSR post-doctoral fellow (ICSSR) from 2013 to 2015. Dr. Prakasm has previously worked as academic counselor of rural development at IGNOU study center, Chandigarh and at Panjab University, Chandigarh. He has been an invited fellow in economic science at the Institute for Advanced Studies and Research (Oxford-Cambridge-Harvard Foundation (OCHF) based in Chennai, India. He has also been a visiting scholar with the India - Thailand bilateral scholars exchange programme based in Bangkok. Dr. Prakasm is a member of the Indian Society of Labour Economics, an executive member of the Indian Economic Association and the vice president of the Chandigarh Economic Association.